Bill Gunter discussed the District Conference at Lions International at Hot Springs last weekend. Secretary Jim Gunter told the club of some things it could do in the district governors contest.

Would Admit Red China to the UN

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—An Australian missionary said here Monday that Communist China should be admitted to the United Nations and that he opposed the Vietnam War.

Dr. Alan Walker, superintendent of the Central Methodist Mission in Sidney, Australia, and author and former adviser to the Australian delegation at the U.N., is here to deliver a group of lectures at the First Methodist Church. Walker said western nations should increase trade with Red China.

"The only hope for peace is through trade with Red China," he said. "The greater the trade ties, the less the chance of war. Any other course is to assume that there is going to be another war, and that is the surest way to get a war."

"I am opposed to the communist theory," he said. "But we must learn to live together in this world even with people we don't like."

Pryor Has No Plans for Governor

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., says he intends to remain in Congress and does not plan to run for governor in 1968.

Pryor, in a weekend interview here, expressed appreciation that the state Young Democrats Club was attempting to enlist support for a Pryor for Governor campaign, but reiterated that he plans to stay in Washington.

On another matter, Pryor said he was not ready to support President Johnson's 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes unless domestic spending was cut. "We chopped almost $6 million off the NASA request," said Pryor. "We made some pretty healthy cuts in the Housing and Urban Development Department request."

Asked if former Alabama Gov. George Wallace had a chance in Arkansas as a possible third party presidential candidate, Pryor said, "We might as well face facts. I think Wallace would get a substantial vote."

"It is hard to fight temptation. There is always the nagging thought . . . it may not come again."

We love this bit of philosophy because we deal with it every day. We watch the person who is tempted with the new coat, dress, suit or whatever . . . and hear them say . . . "I'll think about it" . . . Then when they come back and it is gone, there is always the nagging thought that it would have looked better than any other . . .

That is the nicest part about shopping early. You get the best choice. You are not hurried in making decisions and you have time to plan the entire wardrobe, thereby getting things that match and blend.

The Dawnleigh knit suits and dresses, designed for the petite or half-size, are in stock now. We love the dark green one. It is so wearable now with light accessories and later with dark. They are priced at $30.00, maybe one or two at $50.00. You will love the bright colors, the casual styles and the fit . . . it is the near perfect of any suit we carry. See them today!

If you are tempted to buy a Rain Shedder all-weather coat, do it! They are the smartest garments, made of water-repellent fabrics, come in beautiful colors and can be worn year 'round. We might add, world 'round because we have so many customers on trips this year. Priced from $18.00 up.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

UNGRATEFUL GIRL FRIEND
Dear Helen: My steady girl friend thinks I'm crazy when I say that since I don't have much money to take her places or buy her things, I have to show my love through hugging and kissing, sometimes. Or at least holding hands.

She won't kiss me for fear people will see, and I never have a chance to be alone with her. When her parents are in the room, she won't even sit near me. If I put my arm around her when we're walking down the street, she's always looking over her shoulder to see if anybody is near. She's so jumpy I can hardly land a good night kiss. Usually it's on her ear.

I think she's been overwarned by her mother. Would you please tell her it's normal to want to kiss the girl you love? . . . And that I'm not a monster?--BUFF
Dear Buff's Girl Friend: There's nothing sinful in a kiss, and I'm sure Buff expects no more than this normal display of affection between boy and girl. Many more rebuffs honey, and you'll have no Buff at all--H.

Dear Helen: I have a problem sister. I'm 13 and she's 12. Last May she stole one of my bras and wore it to school. I found out she bragged to all the girls that she was "old enough."

Now that she has one of her own, she really acts smartypants. She says she is going to wear nylons to school this year. I didn't get to wear them when I was 12! She acts so big it makes me sick. But Helen, prepare yourself!

My Mom doesn't think she ever does anything wrong because she is her pet!--TROUBLED AT 13

Dear Troubled: Your sister probably isn't the "pet". It's just that with each addition to the family, parents get a little easier--or maybe a little more tired of saying, "No." Perhaps she acts "smartypants" because she's competing with a girl who makes her jealous--you. Give her a pair of your old nylons, stop treating her like a "dumb little brat" and I think you soon may discover she's as human as you are. At least it happened in OUR family.--H.

Dear Helen: This seems impossible, but it's true. My parents are jealous of my boy friend! They say he's stealing my affection away from them. So they stopped me from seeing him.

I'm very attached to my family, but it seems like I grew up before my folks did. How can I make them see I won't love them any less for loving my boy friend more?--MIXED UP

Dear M.U.: Have you really tried to make your parents see or are you scaring them green with that marriage-gleam in your eye? We all get a jealous twinge when the first boy-girl friend shows up, but we get over it when we discover you're sensible about dating.

Prove you are, and if you're STILL having trouble, I'll concede your folks are immature.--H.

Cardinals Defeat Phils 5-1

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ron Herbel is giving the San Francisco Giants a much-needed helping hand. . . and just about everybody is pitching in for the Houston Astros.

Herbel, recently promoted from the bullpen to help fill the gap left by Juan Marichal's leg injury, scattered eight hits Monday night in hurling the Giants to a 4-0 victory over Los Angeles.

The Astros, meanwhile, tied a National League record by employing eight pitchers on the way to an 11-10 verdict over the Chicago Cubs.

Nelson Briles, like Herbel an ex-relief specialist, rolled to his seventh straight victory as a starter as league-leading St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 5-1 and Cincinnati struck for two ninth-inning runs to nlp Pittsburgh 4-3 in other NL action.

In the only games on the American League schedule, Minnesota bombed Washington 13-5 and Baltimore ambushed the Chicago White Sox 6-1.

Herbel's second September victory gave the Giants a 9-1 mark for the month and continued a run of brilliant pitching that began on Aug. 1 — with Marichal shelved by a pulled hamstring muscle in his left leg.

Willie McCovey, who drove in three runs in Herbel's 4-3 victory over Cincinnati nine days ago, delivered two more against the Dodgers with a single and his 25th homer. Willie Mays chipped in with two doubles and a single as the Giants beat Don Drysdale and took a 12-4 bulge in their season set with the Dodgers.

The Astros overcame a 5-2 deficit with a five-run salvo in the sixth inning, but barely survived a ninth-inning rally by the Cubs, who tossed six pitchers into the slugfest.

Pat House, the eighth Houston hurler, got the last out after Dave Giusti, Carroll Sembera, Chris Zachary, Dan Schneider, winner Dave Ellers, Tom Dukes and Larry Sherry had come and gone.

Jim Wynn smacked his 37th homer and drove in three runs for the Astros while Sonny Jackson's two-run single keyed the sixth-inning uprising.

The 14 pitchers used by both clubs equalled the major league mark for a nine-inning game and the Astros fell one short of the all-time high of nine pitchers put to work by the old St. Louis Browns in a 1949 game against Chicago.

Briles, touched for a run in the second inning, blanked the Phils on five hits the rest of the way to register his 12th victory in 17 decisions.

Singles by Tim McCarver, who had four hits, and Phil Cagliano triggered a three-run burst in the fourth inning that carried the Cardinals another step closer to the NL pennant.

The Reds tallied 5-2 in the ninth when two walks around Deron Johnson's double filled the bases with one out. Maury Wills then booted Don Pavletich's grounder as the tying run scored and Pete Rose won it with a bloop single to right center.

Willie Stargell knocked in all three Pittsburgh runs with a single and homer.

Broyles Says Punt Rule Is a Farce

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A new National Collegiate Athletic Association rule requiring interior linemen to remain at the line of scrimmage until a ball is punted will make college football a "farce," Head Coach Frank Broyles of the University of Arkansas said here Monday.

"If you put the pitcher back three more feet and moved the bases up four feet, you would upset the balance in baseball," Broyles said. "It might result in 20 more runs a game. This is what the new punting rule has done."

Broyles, a member of the NCAA committee that approved the rule change, said he never would do it again.

"The new rule will allow teams to get results from a

Broyles Says He Has to Use Sophs

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Frank Broyles says sophs have just got to come through for us if we are going to win," the Arkansas coach told some 30 touring Southwest Conference sportswriters Monday.

"Our seniors have shown real class, but there is quite a drop-off in size and ability at this stage," he said.

"We had four sophomores start last year and we lost two ball games. This year we'll have eight sophomores starting. I hope that doesn't mean we will lose four games."

Broyles said his Razorbacks would have two seniors on the offensive squad.

"One is Ernest Ruple, and he is a very outstanding football player. The other is Ronny South, and he's looked extremely rusty at times. He was red-shirted last year, missed spring practice because of the Army and missed the last week of practice because of a bad ankle."

Broyles said too many things were unresolved to tell much about his offense.

"We were fifth in the conference last year in offense," he said. "That was with Harry Jones, David Dickey, (Jon) Brittenum, Eddie Woodlee and Tommy Burnett. I haven't figured that out yet."

Broyles said, on the other hand, that his defense, ranked second in the conference last year, had a chance to be stronger this year. He listed five "class" returnees, including nose guard David Cooper, end Harford Hamilton, monster man Steve Hoehn and defensive halfbacks Tommy Tranthum and Gary Adams.

One real problem could develop at the defensive tackle spot, where 197-pound Alvin Jones has replaced 230-pound Terry Don Phillips.

Phillips, a starter last year and brother of All-American Loyd Phillips, may not play a down this year, Broyles said.

Phillips has been having trouble with his back since a fall several weeks ago. He reinjured it last week during a scrimmage.

Broyles said Jim Barnes, a starting offensive guard last year who was switched to tight end during spring practice, would return to his guard position.

McDonald Is Again on the Move

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tommy McDonald, a pint-size pass catcher who seldom stands still on the football field, is on the move again — off the gridiron.

The 5-foot-9 speedster with sure hands that have caught more passes than all but three National Football League players in history, was bouncing toward Atlanta today after Los Angeles Rams dealt him to the Falcons for a high draft choice.

The former Oklahoma hero, moving into the twilight of a glory-filled NFL career, was a victim of out-of-town day as teams jockeyed to reach the 40-player limit Monday.

Another veteran, middle line-backer Vince Costello, who anchored Cleveland's defense through many a winning season, also felt the bite as the Browns sent him to the line-backer-starved New York Giants, also for a draft choice.

The Giants, easily the most active of teams a week before the NFL season opens, also picked up defensive end Bruce Anderson from the Rams and safety Dave Hathcock from Green Bay for draft picks.

To make room for the, the Giants sent veteran tackle Jim Colvin back to Dallas because of a bad knee, placed third-string quarterback Tom Kennedy on injured waivers and dropped defensemen Ted Holman, Joe Siesel and Bob Trygstad.

Fearsome Foursome Is Feared

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams' Fearsome Foursome is feared by none other than Fears — Tom, that is — and the New Orleans Saints' coach says they're even more fearsome, "if that's possible," with Roger Brown.

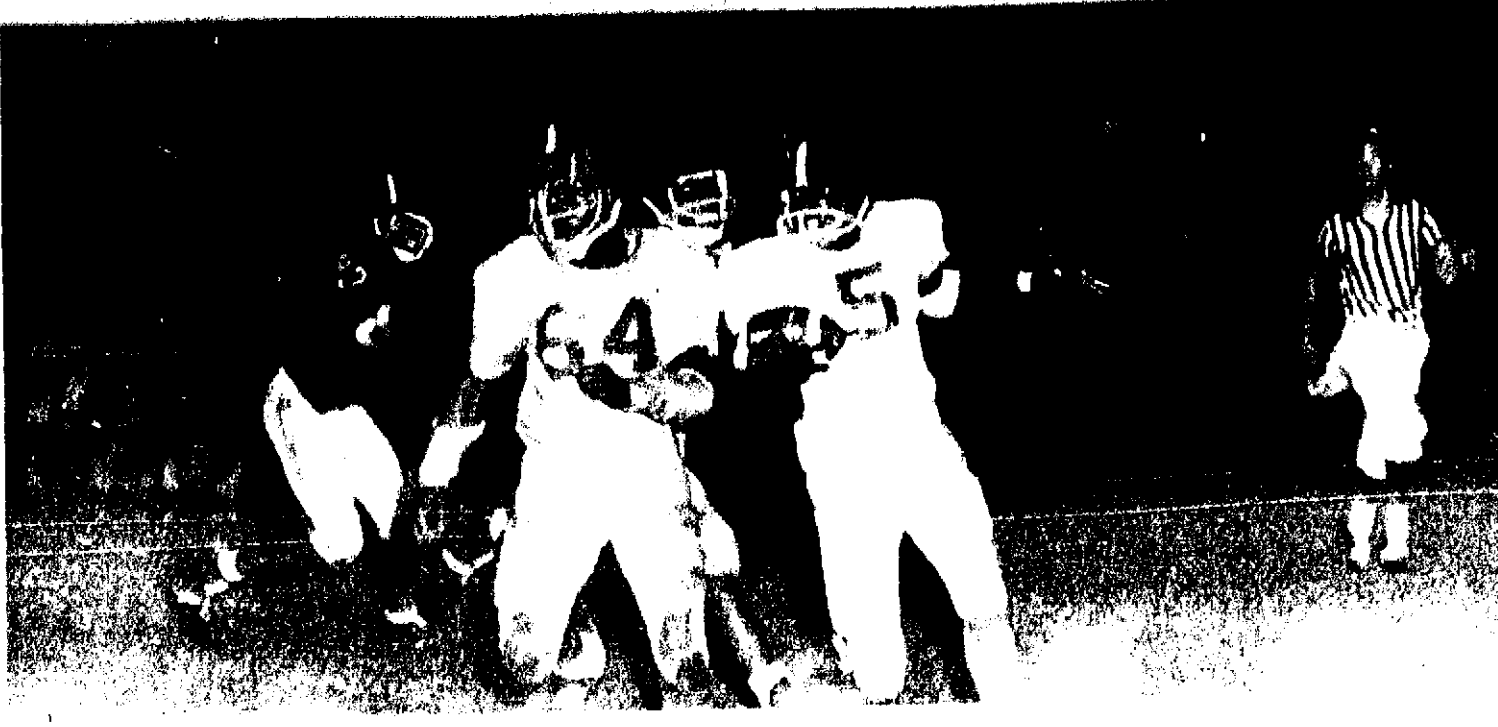

Thus, Fears fears the Rams may bring his Saints down to earth when the two teams clash here Sunday in the league opener for both.

Six weeks ago New Orleans played its very first game — against the Rams. Los Angeles won 16-7.

An expansion club like New Orleans is usually considered easy pickings — even in exhibition season — for the older teams. But St. Louis, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Atlanta and the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League found out differently and the Saints wound up with an amazing 5-1 exhibition record.

Are the Saints for real? "We'll find out on Sunday,"

Latest Date for Series Not Likely

BOSTON (AP) — Even if the American League's regular season ends in a four-way tie, there's only slight chance the World Series will start or finish on the latest date in history.

A check of record books disclosed today that the latest start of the World Series was Oct. 17 in 1910. The latest windup was a year later, on Oct. 27.

The World Series is scheduled to start in the home of the AL champion Oct. 4 this year. However, with Minnesota, Boston, Chicago and Detroit involved in a wild pennant fight, arrangements are being made for possible playoffs between two, three and four teams.

Should two teams tie for the lead after the regular schedule of 162 games on Oct. 1, they would play a best-of-3 series for the championship and a berth in the World Series.

If three teams tie, there would be a round-robin series of a maximum of five games. The two teams losing two games would be eliminated.

In the event of a four-way deadlock, two sets of best-of-3 series would be played, with survivors meeting in another three-game set for the title. A drawing will be held in New York Thursday morning to determine sites and opponents for possible playoffs. Any playoffs will start Oct. 2.

Hurricane Threat to Cup Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Winds blustering around the fringes of Hurricane Doria threatened to postpone the first race for the America's Cup today.

The Weather Bureau has forecast an only slightly less blustery repeat of the 30-knot northeasterly that kept both the American defender, Intrepid, and the Australian challenger, Dame Pattie, in port Monday.

The race committee of the New York Yacht Club, holder of the ancient trophy for 116 years, was to meet early today to determine whether there was too much weather for the competing 12-meter sloops.

Intrepid and Dame Pattie have shown themselves somewhat brittle in a stiff breeze, both having been dismasted in high winds during earlier trials over Rhode Island Sound.

Should the overnight prediction of 15-25 knot northeast winds and 6-8 seas be deemed too severe for racing, the committee will put the race off until Wednesday.

There is no time limit in which to run the best-of-7 series for the Cup.

Soccer Style Kicker May Be Answer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — That, said Coach Tommy Prothro of the UCLA football team, should solve any problem we might have with the new punt rule in college football.

Prothro, along with a regiment of visiting football writers and several hundred fans, had just seen a strapping young sophomore, Zenon Andrusyshyn, boot a 62-yard field goal soccer-style.

Moments before the 20-year-old Zenon had made two successful kicks from 57 yards, all measured from tee to uprights on the Bruins' Spaulding Field.

The 62-yarder, which outdistanced the record 56 set by the National Football League by the Baltimore Colts' Bert Rechichar against the Chicago Bears on Sept. 27, 1953, was, of course, done in practice.

But it capped 30 uninterrupted minutes of practice kicking and preceded the Bruins' squad drill.

The new college punt rule restricts offensive tackles, guards and center from leaving the line of scrimmage until the ball has been kicked.

UCLA may not even bother to punt.

Andrusyshyn — pronounced "An-dru-si-sh'n" — may be the Bruins' happiest surprise.

Athletic Director J. D. Morgan tells how Zenon arrived on the scene.

"Our track coach, Jim Bush, recruited him. Zenon holds the Canadian javelin throw record—242 feet 6 inches.

Last spring as a freshman, Zenon had a sore elbow and was just fooling around kicking a football. That's when we discovered what he could do."

Apparently Newcombe Can Call Shots

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — Funditis say the ideal life is that of the touring amateur tennis player—you travel the world at someone else's expense and you travel with a harem.

The current king of these court gypsies is a tall, handsome Australian named John Newcombe, who added the American to his Wimbledon title this week and Monday received an elegant trophy as the sport's Player of the Year.

As the world's No. 1 player, Newcombe is in a position to call his own shots and dictate his own terms for tournament appearances.

While the straight-laced amateur authorities hush-hush such suggestions, it is known that a top flight star can demand as much as $500 a tournament to play in such places as the French Riviera, the European Continent and the Caribbean.

It's a busy life, but a profitable one, Jack Kramer and Lew Hoad, among others have said that a smart operator can clear as much as $10,000 a year, over and above other sources of income.

"I work for a travel agency in Sydney and I also have a job with a sporting goods company," Newcombe said. "I play tennis 11 months of the year."

Son of a Sydney dentist, John was an all-around teen-age athlete star in a country famed for its sportsmen. In high school he played football, a form of soccer, and cricket.

At 13, he listened to a Davis Cup broadcast and got interested. He told his dad he wanted a tennis racket.

Newcombe won the Australian Junior at 16 and was named the youngest man ever to represent Australia on the world tour. He's been on the merry-go-round ever since.

Like most Australians, he was through high school at 16. He played at Wimbledon at 17 and was a Davis Cup team member at 19.

Now only 23, he is completing his seventh world tour.

This is the major difference between Australian and American tennis players. Clark Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, whom John beat in the men's final at Forest Hills, N.Y., Sunday, is also 23. He has had one world tour.

Farmers Get Card About Statistics

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Nearly 10,000 Arkansas farmers will get post card report forms in their mailboxes today and Wednesday in the annual acreage survey conducted by the Statistical Reporting Service of the Department of Agriculture.

Roy D. Bass, agricultural statistician for Arkansas, said each rural mail carrier would distribute 15 cards on a representative basis to farmers on his route. The farmers are asked to list the acreage of their crops on the cards and mail them back to the Statistical Reporting Service.

Bass said information from the survey would be used in preparation of the annual crop summary to be released later this year.

Forrest City Contract Is Approved

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP)—A contract negotiated between the Warwick Electronics plant here and the International Union of Electrical, Machinists and Radio Workers was approved by IUE Local 1106 Monday by a vote of 438-39.

Warwick, a manufacturer of color television sets, agreed to 48.5 cent per hour wage increase, spread over a three-year period beginning last Aug. 1. The contract also calls for improvements in the company's hospitalization plan and two additional holidays for workers.

Negotiations started May 17, but were interrupted by a de-certification election called by the National Labor Relations Board at the request of a union member. Warwick employees voted overwhelmingly for continued representation by the union.

Lie Detector Test Has Freed Man

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pros. Atty. Richard Adkisson said Monday he probably would drop the kidnapping charge against Richard Tyler Lane, 34, of Steamboat, Nev.

A lie detector test clearly indicated that Lane was not one of the three persons involved in the kidnapping and beating of a Little Rock hospital employee April 22, 1963, Adkisson said.

"I believe that Lane is not guilty," he said.

Adkisson arranged for the test at the request of the ex-boxer, who flew back to Nevada after being told of the results.

Adkisson said he planned to review the complete file on Lane, and that he expected to drop the charge as soon as he received an official written report of the test, which was conducted at State Police headquarters here.

Lane, who consistently has denied the charge against him, said he had been trying four years to get the state to let him take a lie detector test.

Lane was charged with kidnapping William F. Bonds, 59, night admissions clerk at the Arkansas Baptist Medical Center, in an attempt to get the room number of James Dean Walker, who was being treated for wounds suffered in a gun battle in which a North Little Rock policeman was killed. Walker later was convicted of the slaying.

Charged along with Lane were his wife and James Burton Ing, a Nevada bar owner shot to death by Nevada police during an investigation several months ago.

Arkansas authorities never gained custody of Mrs. Lane or Ing.

Can See No Injunction Violation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Circuit Judge William J. Kirby said Monday that he didn't think K. Barney Levine, owner of the Westwood Club, was in violation of an injunction issued March 21 forbidding him from operating the club "in any manner that would be contrary to law."

Levine was charged with possessing gambling equipment after a State Police raid on Westwood Saturday.

Kirby said that in order for his injunction to apply, the club would have had to have been using the equipment for gambling purposes during the operation of the club.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

JANE GRIGG

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Jane Grigg has been named assistant Extension home economist for White county with headquarters at Searcy, C. A. Vines, Director, Agricultural Extension Service, has announced. Her appointment, effective September 11, is subject to approval by the president of the University of Arkansas.

Miss Grigg is a native of Hempstead county and attended public schools at Hope. She took her Bachelor of Science degree in home economics from Ouachita Baptist University, Arkadelphia in May of this year.

Vines explained that Extension work in White county is supported by the county, state and federal governments and that the program was designed to help people improve incomes, job opportunities and better living conditions. He said that primary concern was in the area of agriculture, family living, and youth work but that Extension staff members provided educational assistance on any program as needed to accomplish the above goals.

Charges Filed for Thefts in Missouri

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—Pros. Atty. Bill Doshier filed two counts of receiving stolen property against a Harrison man Monday in connection with a series of thefts that netted some $75,000 worth of merchandise from Springfield, Mo., business establishments during the past three months.

Charged in the case was Leo W. Walton, 45, who was arrested earlier in the day. Walton, president of the Golden Rich Distributing Co., here, was released on $5,000 bond. His arraignment is scheduled for Thursday.

Walton's arrest followed an investigation by Boone County Sheriff Doyle Hickman, State Police Sgt. Earl Rife and Sheriff Mickey Owen of Greene County, Mo.

They said Walton owned a farmhouse five miles north of here and a warehouse just outside the city limits where much of the merchandise was recovered last Thursday.

The merchandise filled a large moving van. It included 400 men's suits, 11 television sets, truck tires and more than 800 cartons of cigarettes bearing Missouri tax stamps.

Hurricane Toll Leaves 18 Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mountain peaks reaching 8,000 feet into Hurricane Beulah tamed the once-mighty storm to 75 miles an hour today but not before Beulah raised the Caribbean death toll to 18 and headed for the tourist resorts of Jamaica.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said Beulah was expected to build up its strength on the march over open water before nearing the island of Jamaica.

At midnight the storm was centered about 700 miles southeast of Miami and was moving west. A slight turn to the north-west was forecast. Such a turn could affect Cuba, said forecaster Joseph Pellissier.

Arnold Sugg, a forecaster, said it was too early to predict the effect on the United States.

Two Atlantic hurricanes, Doria and Chloe, remained far from land.

Chloe, moving west from far out in the Atlantic, was said to pose no threat to land for the next two days.

Doria, a "minimal hurricane," centered 500 miles east of Norfolk, Va., was moving to the east at about 14 m.p.h. She was still kicking up the seas causing heavy surf from Massachusetts to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

On Monday 200,000 people were evacuated to emergency shelters from the exposed Barahona Peninsula on the south shore of Hispaniola, the island shared by Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Financing System for Social Security Hike Is Being Advocated

By 'OE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate advocates of a sharply increased level of Social Security benefits are focusing their efforts this year on a revolutionary breakthrough in financing of the 31-year-old system.

They propose that for the first time the traditional revenues obtained through wage-related taxes be augmented by money from the general funds of the Treasury.

The huge prospective budget deficit in the general fund growing out of the Vietnam war appears to make 1967 a particularly unlikely year for such a change.

But Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who is pushing the idea, has come up with a twist which seems to skirt the question of present war costs. It provides for general fund financing—but not until 1972.

Senators seeking the higher payments declare the Social Security bill passed by the House last month proposes benefits hopelessly inadequate for the needs of America's elderly citizens.

And, they say, President Johnson's proposal, which calls for somewhat higher payments, also is unsatisfactory even though it would mean the biggest benefit increase ever.

They point to the testimony received by the Senate Finance Committee that either proposal would leave millions of old persons still in poverty.

The committee has been told that the new average annual payment for an individual resulting from the President's measure would be $1,173.

The poverty level for an individual as defined by the Social Security Administration on an admittedly meager basis is $1,500 or less.

The House bill provides for a 12.5 per cent increase in benefits, with a boost in the minimum monthly check to $50 from the present $44.

Johnson's recommendation is for a 15 per cent across-the-board hike with a $70 minimum.

Kennedy, in testimony before the committee, called for a 20 per cent across-the-board hike with a $100 minimum monthly payment.

Teachers Determined in N. York

By BOB MONROE
NEW YORK (AP) — Albert Shanker, head of the teachers union, vows its members will continue "until our demands are granted" the day-old work stoppage that disrupted the opening of the fall term Monday for more than a million pupils in New York City schools.

Carrying picket signs instead of roll books, more than 40,000 teachers defied a court order and boycotted classrooms. Nearly 400,000 youngsters also stayed away and those who did show up found only an approximation of normal classes.

Shanker, president of the 49,000-member AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, is due in State Supreme Court today to show cause why a temporary injunction forbidding the walkout should not be made permanent.

The action was expected to lead to a test of the new state law forbidding strikes by public employes unions. The union said Monday night it would make a legal counterattack and seek to force the city to close all the schools until the dispute is settled.

To meet the crisis in some schools, parents and community volunteers helped out.

In the afternoon thousands of the teachers gathered outside City Hall, chanting, "We will win! We will win!" Shanker responded, "We will stay out until our demands are granted."

In all, 740 of the city's 900 schools were picketed. The strike drew the support of AFL-CIO President George Meany and of two nationally known Negro leaders, A. Philip Randolph and Bayard Rustin.

However, some other Negroes said they see discrimination in the union demand that teachers be allowed to initiate the dismissal from schools of disruptive pupils.

The Board of Education reported that 11,662 of 57,644 assigned teachers showed up for classes Monday. They were augmented by some 8,600 volunteers.

India, Red China Troops Are Fighting

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.
NEW DELHI (AP) — Intermittent firing continued through the night between Indian and Red Chinese troops on the mountainous border between Tibet and Sikkim, a Defense Ministry spokesman said today.

The spokesman said he was unable to give any reason for the clashes which India claims were provoked by the Chinese. "It is perhaps part of the frustration in the wake of the so-called cultural revolution," he said.

Peking accused India of starting the shooting Monday and threatened "crushing blows" against any invasion.

Recalling the defeat Chinese troops administered to Indian forces in their border war five years ago, a Chinese government note delivered to the Indian Embassy in Peking said: "Do not misjudge the situation and repeat your mistake of 1962."

"For the defense of the sacred territory of their motherland," the note continued, "the great Chinese people and the Chinese People's Liberation Army will certainly deal crushing blows at any enemy that dares invade us."

India proposed an immediate cease-fire and a meeting of the local military commanders "to reduce the tension and prevent the situation from assuming a very serious aspect."

Each side accused the other of opening fire first on Monday. The clash occurred at Nathu La Pass, a Himalayan ridge about 20 miles from Gangtok, the Sikkim capital where the former Hope Cooke, an American socialite, reigns with her husband the Maharajah Palden Thondup Namgyal.

Red China said 36 of its frontier guards were killed or wounded in the clash, the second outbreak of fighting at the pass in five days.

India said the Chinese opened fire with rifles and machine guns and followed with mortar and artillery barrages, killing and wounding some Indians. Unofficial accounts in New Delhi said eight Indians were wounded and a lesser number killed.

Sikkim, a protectorate of India, has a population of 17,000 and an armed force of 300 palace guards. India is responsible for its defense and foreign relations.

Tension has been mounting between Indian and Chinese patrols facing each other at Nathu La Pass, which lies at the end of a strip of Tibetan territory reaching south between Sikkim and Bhutan.

Two patrols of about 60 men each clashed briefly with bayonets at the pass last Thursday, and the Chinese claimed two of their soldiers were wounded.

Bombed After Soviet Ships Left Port

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States waited until the small North Vietnamese port of Cam Pha was clear of Soviet ships before sending Navy planes to bomb its wharves and cargo-handling equipment, Pentagon sources indicate. This was in line with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's announced policy of avoiding any direct confrontation with the Soviet Union.

Defense Department sources cautioned against regarding the blow at Cam Pha Monday as foreshadowing strikes against the key North Vietnamese port of Haiphong, some 45 miles to the southwest.

McNamara was understood to be still unshaken in his belief that any possible gain from bombing or mining Haiphong harbor would not be worth the risk of a collision with Moscow if Soviet ships were sunk or damaged as a result of such U.S. actions.

A few Soviet ships virtually always are present in Haiphong harbor. According to intelligence sources, there were about five Soviet ships in port there over the weekend.

Cam Pha is believed to have been placed on the approved target list sometime after McNamara testified Aug. 25 before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee.

Order Made to Resume Picketing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Chancellor Murray O. Reed signed an order Monday permitting the International Ladies Garment Workers Union to resume picketing at the Ottenheimer Brothers Manufacturing Co., here.

The union, which had been under a temporary injunction issued June 22, was told that it must abide by agreements it had reached with the company with regard to picketing.

Testimony Is Ruled Legal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Circuit Court in Dallas County was correct in accepting testimony from policemen who overheard Johnny Edington confess the fatal stabbing of Theodora Jimmy Turner to a friend, the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled Monday.

Edington's attorney argued that this kind of confession was barred by the Miranda and Escobedo rulings of the U.S. Supreme Court, and that Edington should have been warned about his right to remain silent immediately upon his arrest.

"This is not required in every instance of arrest or detention," the Supreme Court said. "The officer who went after Edington was merely instructed to bring him to headquarters. The officer did not interrogate Edington and consequently had no reason to give Edington the Miranda warnings."

"Nor is this a situation where officers set up a conversation between the suspect and another in order to obtain an admission of guilt. The trial court heard evidence of a spontaneous admission by the suspect to his friend..."

Edington confessed the slaying to Mrs. Gracie Broughton, in whose home the stabbing occurred. Officers said he told her after being brought to the police station that he loved her and had been jealous of Turner. The court also upheld three other convictions.

Jim Pate Chandler had appealed his conviction in Howard Circuit Court of possessing an illicit still on grounds that evidence against him was insufficient and that the judge made prejudicial comments during the trial.

Marcellus A. Smith had appealed his conviction in Pulaski Circuit Court for involuntary manslaughter. The charge grew out of an automobile accident in which Audrey Marie Barnes died in 1964. Smith questioned the validity of testimony from a policeman who said a test indicated Smith was under the influence of alcohol at the time of the accident.

James Givens had appealed from an armed robbery conviction in Jefferson Circuit Court, arguing that a long delay before his trial had violated his right to a speedy and public trial. Givens wanted a new trial.

The Supreme Court reversed the Chancery Court in Lonoke County, which had ruled that the Carlisle Development Corp., a residential development company, could connect one of its streets with a network of streets located on property owned by the Carlisle School District.

Reward Offered for Slayer

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mayor Martin Borchert and Police Chief R. E. Brians announced Monday the City Manager Board would meet Wednesday to consider appropriating $1,000 as a reward leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of a Little Rock policeman.

Worthy was killed Sept. 2 after he had stopped a man for questioning for an earlier automobile accident.

Booker T. McDonald, 54, of Little Rock was being charged with first-degree murder in the slaying. McDonald has eluded an extensive manhunt conducted by authorities.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

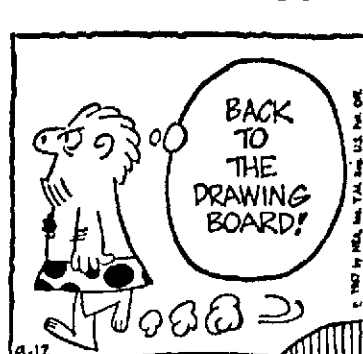

Two Sets of Gloves May
Keep Hands from CrackingBy WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.Q—I have detergent eczema of my hands. Everything my doctor has tried, including lanolin creams, makes my hands dry, crack open and bleed. What can I do for this condition?A—Detergents remove the protective oils from your skin.
As a result it first becomes waterlogged, then dries out and cracks. The best protection is to get some thin, white cotton gloves. Turn them inside out so the smooth side will be next to your skin and wear rubber gloves over these when you wash the dishes.
The cotton will absorb your perspiration and prevent your skin from drying in it.
Silicone ointments may also be applied to your hands to protect them from soaps and other chemical irritants.Q—The skin on the ends of WIN AT BRIDGEBridge Worriers
Defeat SelvesBy Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.There are so many ways to lose at bridge it is a wonder that anyone manages to win.
One of the most painful ways we know is to build up problems every time it is your turn to play.West was one of these problem builders. East knew it and was prepared to do his best to make things easy for West. Therefore, East raised to two spades with only three trumps and didn't show his six-card heart suit. East only held seven high card points and his heart suit was ten-spot high so his spade raise was normal enough.South's jump to five clubs came as a shock to West but left him no course but to pass. West could not double and certainly did not want to go barging into five spades.
East might have worried but East wasn't a worrier. He doubled.It was up to West to lead and West gave that problem the full treatment before placing the ace of spades on the table.East did the best he could to ask for a spade continuation. He played his five spot.
South played his nine. Hemy fingers loosens and peels off in tiny pieces. These loose ends are annoying. When they are pulled at they quickly tear down to the quick but when I leave them alone they form hard, scratchy edges. What is your advice?A—My advice is to refrain from pulling or tearing the loose ends. Gently smooth the rough edges with a nail file or a razor blade. Have your doctor find out whether the peeling is due to contact with a chemical irritant, ringworm or some other cause, then treat the cause.Q—My eyelids are puffy in the morning. Is it possible that I cry in my sleep without being aware of it? What other cause could there be?A—The lower lids swell as a result of loss of elasticity of the skin in that area. It is unlikely that crying in your sleep is the cause. A tendency to puffy lids runs in families. It may be aggravated by insufficient sleep. No treatment is necessary but a plastic operation will remove the puffiness if it bothers you too much.Q—Could the use of antibiotics cause itching of various parts of the body? What should be done to relieve it?A—Chloramphenicol and the tetracyclines sometimes cause a skin rash. Then penicillins may cause allergic reactions including hives. If the itching is caused by an allergy to the drug an antihistamine should relieve it. Whatever the cause, a soothing lotion or spray should give some relief.Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Don't Discard Long Skirts

Skirt silhouettes continue closer to the straight-and-narrow rather than the full-and-flared look. The miniskirt is still getting maximum attention, despite the rumors of a Dr. Zhivago hemline in the fall fashion collections, so don't discard any short skirts just yet.

9-9-6tcHome Owner Vs.
AirplaneIn the early days of commercial aviation, a home owner went to court with a startling demand."This airline is flying its planes directly over my land," he said.
"Yet, according to law, an owner of land also owns the earth below and the space above—all the way up to heaven. Therefore, these planes are trespassing in my private airspace. I demand an injunction to have them stopped."The home owner did have a point. The "up to heaven" theory had, in fact, been an accepted rule of law for centuries. Under it, home owners had won injunctions against everything from overhanging branches to intruding telephone wires.Nevertheless, the court held it would be absurd to apply this ancient doctrine to modern aviation.
As one judge put it:"Every transcontinental flight would subject the operator to countless trespass suits. Common sense revolts at the idea."But tougher issues lay ahead.
What about those home owners who lived close to airports? They complained not just of a technical trespass, high in the air, but of the roar and vibration of aircraft passing right overhead.A harassed chicken farmer became the symbol of their plight.
In a case fought all the way to the Supreme Court, he charged that his terrified chickens were dashing themselves to death against the walls of their coop."My farm," he said, "has been ruined for raising chickens."
This time, the farmer won compensation. The court said that, even though planes had a right to fly through his airspace, he was entitled to be paid for that portion of his property value that had been "taken" from him.Ever since the chicken farmer's victory, the law has been gradually harmonizing the traditional rights of private property with the emerging necessities of the air age. It has refused to let private rights arbitrarily block progress; it has also refused to let the price of progress fall unfairly on individual property owners.

The advent of jets has intensified the problem. The advent of super-sonic jets will intensify it still more.

But the law's basic guidelines are already visible.And understandably so.
"If the mind of man can invent a flying machine," observed one court, "it ought to be able to devise a law which is adequate to deal with the problems flowing from such inventiveness."An American Bar Association public service feature by Will Bernard.

hoped that West would shift but felt the play of the ten would be more likely to encourage a spade continuation.
Now the wheels started to turn around in West's head.
He still missed the king, ten and four of spades. Obviously East held the four so his five had to be some sort of signal.That would be enough for most players and the spade suit would be continued but that would have been too simple for West. If East held the ace of hearts, a heart shift would be the killing play, so West led the queen of hearts.South won with the ace, led a diamond, finessed dummy's queen, discarded his ten of spades on the ace of diamonds and made his contract.

What I Remember About the Old Stanley Steamer

When this writer was a boy there were three famous "off-beat" automobiles which today are only memories: The Baker Electric, the Franklin Air-Cooled, and the Stanley Steamer.

The Baker Electric never was a road car because its driving range was limited, 20 to 30 miles—nor is it any more practical today with new batteries delivering only 60 to 80 miles. It would eliminate air pollution, but the public would no more accept it today than it did earlier in the century.

The Franklin, on the other hand, was a ton-drawner automobile, of Cadillac quality and Model T economy. Thousands were sold, but this fine air-cooled car fell by the wayside because it hadn't the brute power or speed of the oncoming water-cooled jobs. And this is really immaterial to the air pollution discussion because Franklin was just another internal combustion machine with a poisonous exhaust.

This brings us to the Stanley Steamer—burning kerosene and creating little or no pollution of the atmosphere. The Stanley was built for 30 years or more, outperformed all the gasoline cars of its day—but never really caught on with the status seekers.

Here were the Stanley's advantages:

It was the fastest car of its day. At a time when the average stock gasoline auto had a top speed of about 55 miles an hour every Stanley was guaranteed to run 98% with five persons aboard. It outranged all its gasoline competitors, delivering 300 to 400 miles without taking on either fuel or water. And it was the quietest and most economical of all.

Here were the Stanley's disadvantages:

Being a steamer it wouldn't take off instantly in the morning. Early models required half an hour to get up steam. But this was later reduced to a few minutes.

It was plagued by the ancient problem of finding a good seal for the kitchen's hot-water faucet—in this case the packing around the valves of the two-cylinder steam engine. Most of the Stanley owners were do-it-yourself guys who didn't mind packing the valve gear every Saturday. With today's improved seals it is possible this maintenance work could be eliminated in a 1967 steam car.

A long-range problem was the boiler. In perhaps five years water scale would choke the boiler, requiring a replacement. But against this cost you had to balance the fact that the steamer required virtually none of the maintenance work which is inherent in gasoline cars.

You ask what authority I am quoting for the facts of this report. None. None whatever. You don't need authority when you are speaking from personal experience. When I was a boy several of our neighbors had Stanley Steamers; I was fascinated by their mechanical features—and on occasion I was permitted to take the wheel and handle the throttle.

The Stanley's two-cylinder double-acting engine had the same number of thrusts per revolution as an eight-cylinder gas car. But it was incredibly smooth and silent, and accelerated like a cat.

There were no gears. But there was a steam "cut-off." That is, for quick acceleration or mountain climbing you would use the one-quarter cut-off. But on level ground you changed the setting to conserve steam, reducing the cut-off to an eighth, a twelfth, or a sixteenth of the thrust. Going up a Pennsylvania mountain the Stanley was unbeatable, but I asked an owner, "Using that one-quarter cut-off don't you sometimes run out of steam?" He grinned, acknowledging a sharp question, and replied, "Yes, if you run wide open long enough—but under the same circumstances a gasoline car has to stop at a horse watering-trough to put out the fire in a boiling engine!"

Speaking of horse troughs... The early Stanleys wasted their exhaust steam. Therefore they had a range of less than 100 miles before stopping to take on water. They would pull up at a horse trough, uncoil a 20-foot hose, and vacuum up the horse trough until it was dry. Tough on the next team of thirsty horses—but the

Whites Hurl Bottles in Milwaukee

By KEN HARTNETT
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Crowds of whites hurled bottles and rocks at a line of Negro open housing marchers in the virtually all-white South Side Monday night, bringing an abrupt end to Milwaukee's 15th straight night of demonstrations.

Whites packed the sidewalks along 16th Street as the demonstrators, led by Negro comedian Dick Gregory and the Rev. James E. Groppi, a white Roman Catholic priest, moved into the neighborhood.

Two persons were injured including Sydney Finley, a national officer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People who suffered a head cut.

Police made 13 arrests. The whites, some of whom had made unsuccessful attempts earlier Monday to start marches of their own into the Negro North Side, were waiting for the procession of about 500 Negroes.

Even before the marchers crossed a viaduct into the neighborhood, bottles and firecrackers were tossed at the feet of police.

Police had used tear gas in a South Side neighborhood Sunday night to scatter whites aroused by the largest civil rights demonstration in the city's history. The demonstration had been staged with only minor incidents through another South Side section.

"Suck it to me, Black Power, ooh, aah," chanted the demonstrators as they advanced through the shouting waves of whites. Some whites held banners that read, "Polish Power."

Stanley got on up the road. Later, however, the Stanley brothers redesigned their car with a front-end condenser or radiator, eliminating the water problem and giving the car a range of 300 to 400 miles.

Anything that would burn was fuel for the Stanley—kerosene, peanut oil, or what have you—and its fuel was burned completely with practically no air pollution.

Unlike the electric the Stanley Steamer was a No. 1 performer—and its return is a possibility if the gas car industry doesn't whip the problem of air pollution.

Conclusion—Untidy Fat Men Most Faithful Husbands, Says Here

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: Fat guys with cigar ashes on their vests are almost always faithful husbands. They can't find any girl who wants to cheat with them.

There has been a revival of interest in Mark Twain recently, but if the old man were alive today he'd have a hard time making a living as a writer. The market for his brand of vitriolic common sense is too limited. However, Twain could adjust to changing times, and he'd probably make a fortune out of television portraying a Southern colonel on frozen fried chicken commercials.

Shell Found on No. 4 North of Hope

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — A shell described as one from a 155mm howitzer was discovered Monday afternoon by a Highway Department grass cutting crew in a ditch alongside Arkansas 4 northwest of Hope.

A demolition crew from the Red River Arsenal at Texarkana disarmed the shell and took it to the arsenal.

State Police said the shell apparently had not lain beside the highway for a long period because the grass beneath it was not dead.

The grass cutting crew passed over the shell with a bush-hog type mower.

W. C. Beck of Hope, in charge of the crew, said a similar shell was found about three months ago in a ditch on Arkansas 73 in Hempstead County.

Woman Held in Homicide

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Mrs. Odessa Ballard, 38, of Hot Springs, Ark., was held here on a homicide charge Monday in the fatal stabbing of a man Saturday.

Mrs. Ballard is accused of stabbing Stanford McDonald, 37, an employee of a boardwalk hotel, with a penknife during a party.

Police said Mrs. Ballard was at a party at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Horton.

New Factor, Car Prices Going Up

By KIT KINCADE
DETROIT (AP) — An increase in car prices was a new factor in auto labor-management relations today as negotiators prepared to resume bargaining between the struck Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers.

Chrysler Corp., citing increased costs of labor and new health and safety items required by federal law, Monday became the first of the four major U.S. automakers to announce a price increase. It said 1968 models would cost an average of $133 or 4.6 per cent more than 1967's.

General Motors, American Motors and Ford are also preparing higher price listings on new models but it was not immediately known when their prices will be announced.

Ford and the UAW have agreed to return to the bargaining table Friday in an effort to end a six-day-old strike by 160,000 Ford workers. The UAW had no immediate comment on Chrysler's announcement, but it was expected to study the new prices to get an indication of what kind of second contract offer the company might make.

The union has rejected nearly identical offers made by the Big Three. One GM official estimated the original offer would add $4 an hour to the $4.70 an hour in wages and fringe benefits the average worker now draws.

The Big Three offers included raising the current average straight time hourly rate of $3.41 an hour by 13 cents the first year and by 2.8 per cent each successive year.

The strike is not expected to delay Ford's price announcement since the company has 85,000 new models ready for introduction by dealers Sept. 22.

Chrysler's new models will go on display Sept. 14, earliest of the four Detroit car builders. Chrysler's changes in its "suggested U.S. retail prices" ranged from a boost of $256 on a three-seat Chrysler station wagon to a cut of $144 on the Dodge Charger, the only one of 115 models whose price was dropped.

Based strictly on price tags, with no other consideration, an Associated Press analysis of the 115 models showed the average price increase was $152.70.

Pricing is complicated by the fact that, as usual, some equipment that was optional on old models was made standard on new ones, which was reflected in price tags.

Pastor Willhite said further that only mothers or ladies experienced in the art of handling and caring for young children are being selected as workers in the Center, and that the Center will strive to meet and exceed the minimum requirements and desirable standards for Day Care Centers as have been developed by the Welfare Department of the State of Arkansas.

Planes Hit Targets in Haiphong

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy planes hit four targets inside Haiphong Monday in the closest raids ever made to the center of the port city.

The dock facilities were spared, but raiding jets from the carriers Coral Sea and Oriskany hit two of the main bridges in North Vietnam's chief port, the main rail yard and a sprawling warehouse area.

Antiaircraft and missile barges sent against the raiders included two Soviet-built SAM rockets that apparently went out of control and exploded near three ships, including one Polish and one Italian, anchored in the Red River mouth 20 miles from the port. One missile exploded 1,800 feet above the ships and the other exploded in the water about 2,000 yards away.

The raids into the heavily defended heartland of North Vietnam maintained a U.S. policy of putting as much pressure as possible on the Hanoi regime before monsoons curtail air operations against the North in about a month.

The intensified air war was paralleled by heavy ground fighting Monday and today in South Vietnam's northern war zone where U.S. Marines have been fighting off freshly equipped North Vietnamese regulars.

The Marines reported 40 Communist soldiers and 14 Marines killed and 35 Marines wounded in two actions Monday and two shelling attacks today.

Meanwhile, South Vietnamese forces suffered heavy casualties in two attacks early today south of Da Nang.

Romney Warns But Fails to Blame LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney told the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders today that the nation is threatened by an explosive environment of frustration, hatred and sedition that could ignite "a national holocaust employing civil guerrilla disorder."

The Michigan governor, an undeclared candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, called for an all-out effort "devoid of insincere or unrealistic promises" and based on the Declaration of Independence "to avoid such a national and world catastrophe."

But he avoided a frontal attack on President Johnson in his argument with the administration over calling troops in the Detroit riot.

Romney, in a statement prepared for delivery before the advisory commission, said the greatest responsibility is to insure that "what has happened in Detroit and elsewhere and may happen again does not become an excuse for extremist divisiveness in our nation."
